

Citizenship and moral education

The London Review of Education's editor Hugh Starkey, Professor of Citizenship and Human Rights Education at the UCL Institute of Education, has identified the following articles as being highly relevant to scholars and students researching citizenship and moral education

This list of London Review of Education articles is by no means exhaustive, but these papers provide a strong indication of the journal's commitment to social justice in general and citizenship and moral education in particular. All articles published in LRE are thoroughly peer reviewed and open access. The full list of contents of the journal's more than 14 years of publishing is free for browsing and searching.

- Alderson, P. (2016) ‘International human rights, citizenship education, and critical realism’. London Review of Education, 14 (3), 1–12.
- Apple, M.W. (2003) ‘Strategic alliance or hegemonic strategy? Conservatism among the dispossessed’. London Review of Education, 1 (1), 47–60.
- Apple, M.W. (2013) ‘Between traditions: Stephen Ball and the critical sociology of education’. London Review of Education, 11 (3), 206–17.
- Bryan, A. (2008) ‘The co-articulation of national identity and interculturalism in the Irish curriculum: Educating for democratic citizenship?’. London Review of Education, 6 (1), 47–58.
- Camicia, S.P. and Franklin, B.M. (2010) ‘Curriculum reform in a globalised world: The discourses of cosmopolitanism and community’. London Review of Education, 8 (2), 93–104.
- Chapman, C (2004) ‘Leadership for improvement in urban and challenging contexts’. London Review of Education, 2 (2), 95–108.
- Côté, J.E. (2005) ‘Identity capital, social capital and the wider benefits of learning: Generating resources facilitative of social cohesion’. London Review of Education, 3 (3), 221–37.
- Crick, B. (2008) ‘Citizenship, diversity and national identity’. London Review of Education, 6 (1), 31–7.
- Davies, L. (2004) ‘Building a civic culture post-conflict’. London Review of Education, 2 (3), 229–44.
- Elwood, J. (2013) ‘The role\(s\) of student voice in 14–19 education policy reform: Reflections on consultation and participation’. London Review of Education, 11 (2), 97–111.
- Ferguson, D.L., Hanreddy, A. and Draxton, S. (2011) ‘Giving students voice as a strategy for improving teacher practice’. London Review of Education, 9 (1), 55–70.

- Fielding, M (2004) "New wave" student voice and the renewal of civic society'. London Review of Education, 2 (3), 197–217.
- Foster, S.J. and Davis, O.L. Jr (2004) 'Conservative battles for public education within America's culture wars: Poignant lessons for today from the red scare of the 1950s'. London Review of Education, 2 (2), 123–35.
- Garratt, D. (2011) 'Equality, difference and the absent presence of "race" in citizenship education in the UK'. London Review of Education, 9 (1), 27–39.
- Ginieniewicz, J. (2008) 'Citizenship learning and political participation: The case of Latin American-Canadians'. London Review of Education, 6 (1), 71–85.
- Haas, C. (2008) 'Citizenship education in Denmark: Reinventing the nation and/or conducting multiculturalism\(s\)??'. London Review of Education, 6 (1), 59–69.
- Hayward, G. and Williams, R. (2011) 'Joining the big society: Am I bothered?'. London Review of Education, 9 (2), 175–89.
- Hayward, L. (2013) 'From why to why not? The conundrum of including learners' perspectives: A response to this special issue'. London Review of Education, 11 (2), 184–9.
- Hopfenbeck, T.N. (2013) 'Students' voice, aspirations, and perspectives: International reflections and comparisons'. London Review of Education, 11 (2), 179–83.
- Ibarrola-García, S. and Iriarte, C. (2014) 'Socio-emotional empowering through mediation to resolve conflicts in a civic way'. London Review of Education, 12 (3), 261–73.
- Ke, L. and Starkey, H. (2014) 'Active citizens, good citizens, and insouciant bystanders: The educational implications of Chinese university students' civic participation via social networking'. London Review of Education, 12 (1), 50–62.
- Kiwan, D. (2008) 'Diversity and identity in societal context: Introductory remarks'. London Review of Education, 6 (1), 27–30.
- Leoncini, S. (2014) 'Equality and inclusion of the Palestinian minority in mixed Israeli schools: A case study of Jaffa's Weizman School'. London Review of Education, 12 (3), 274–85.
- Luna, E. and Folgueiras, P. (2014) 'Learning methodology in the classroom to encourage participation'. London Review of Education, 12 (1), 63–76.
- Murray, H. (2008) 'Curriculum wars: National identity in education'. London Review of Education, 6 (1), 39–45.

- Nixon, J. (2004) ‘Education for the good society: The integrity of academic practice’. London Review of Education, 2 (3), 245–52.
- O’Boyle, A. (2013) ‘Valuing the talk of young people: Are we nearly there yet?’, London Review of Education, 11 (2), 127–39.
- Osler, A (2008) ‘Citizenship education and the Ajebo report: Re-imagining a cosmopolitan nation’. London Review of Education, 6 (1), 11–25.
- Preston, J., Feinstein, L. and Anderson, T.M. (2005) ‘Can adult education change extremist attitudes?’. London Review of Education, 3 (3), 289–309.
- Ranson, S, (2004) ‘Configuring school and community for learning: The role of governance’. London Review of Education, 2 (1), 3–15.
- Richardson, R. (2015) ‘British values and British identity: Muddles, mixtures, and ways ahead’. London Review of Education, 13 (2), 37–48.
- Riddell, S. and Tett, L. (2004) ‘New community schools and inter-agency working: Assessing the effectiveness of social justice initiatives’. London Review of Education, 2 (3), 219–28.
- Scanlon, M. and Buckingham, D. (2003) ‘Debating the digital curriculum: Intersections of the public and the private in educational and cultural policy’. London Review of Education, 1 (3), 191–205.
- Seddon, T (2004) ‘Remaking civic formation: Towards a learning citizen?’. London Review of Education, 2 (3), 171–86.
- Sheeran, Y., Brown, B.J. and Baker, S. (2007) ‘Conflicting philosophies of inclusion: The contestation of knowledge in widening participation’. London Review of Education, 5 (3), 249–63.
- Short, G. (2003) ‘Holocaust education in the primary school: Some reflections on an emergent debate’. London Review of Education, 1 (2), 119–29.
- Shukra, K., Back, L., Keith, M., Khan, A. and Solomos, J. (2004) ‘Race, social cohesion and the changing politics of citizenship’. (2004) London Review of Education, 2 (3), 187–95.
- Starkey, H. (2008) ‘Diversity and citizenship in the curriculum’. London Review of Education, 6 (1), 5–10.
- Tetler, S. and Baltzer, K. (2011) ‘The climate of inclusive classrooms: The pupil perspective’. London Review of Education, 9 (3), 333–44.

- Ubachs, F. (2016) 'By addressing life trajectories and political violence, human rights education can overcome radicalizing narratives'. London Review of Education, 14 (3), 85–95.
- Unterhalter, E. (2009) 'Global justice or other people's problems? Computer gaming and critical reflection in an international classroom'. London Review of Education, 7 (1), 41–53.
- Vorhaus, J. (2014) 'Prisoners' right to education: A philosophical survey'. London Review of Education, 12 (2), 162–74.
- Watkins, C. (2005) 'Classrooms as learning communities: A review of research'. London Review of Education, 3 (1), 47–64.
- Wiborg, S. (2004) 'Education and social integration: A comparative study of the comprehensive school system in Scandinavia'. London Review of Education, 2 (2), 83–93.
- Wright, P. (2016) 'Social justice in the mathematics classroom'. London Review of Education, 14 (2), 104–18.